CANNELS GIVES PRAISE TO WILSON'S ADDRESS

Secretary of Navy Declares
"Mobile Declaration" Amplifies the Monroe Doctrine

In the opinion of Secretary of the Navy, Mr. C. G. Cannels, who stopped in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon, the "Mobile Declaration" delivered by President Wilson Monday before the Southern Commercial Congress at Mobile, clearly set forth to the power of the world just how the United States proposes to enforce the Monroe Doctrine in Mexico and the various South American republics.

Secretary Cannels, who was en route to the Mobile convention to his home in Raleigh, N. C., where he will spend a few days, said:

"President Wilson's speech Monday at Mobile was epochal; it will live in history as the 'Mobile Declaration.' That declaration is our pillar of rock, but since the United States acquired Porto Rico, the Philippines and the Panama canal zone, there have been falling into the ways of other nations; that we were using those nations to keep other nations out of the Latin-American republics would go in concourse whenever we felt like it."

His attention to Congressmen Underwood's speech before the Southern Commercial Congress in which the latter in the house of representatives declared the tariff and currency legislation marked the greatest legislative feat of a decade, Secretary Cannels said:

"The legislative program of the administration, however, should be the first of all important features of the program."

He said that the country would not acquiesce another inch of territory in the hands of the United States, and that the country has been a beacon for republics and that any republic found in the hands of the United States would be a disgrace.

He said that the program was the sending of troops to the Philippines with the understanding that the country to go forward with independence as quickly as can be done.

He said that the program was the proposition of State Bryan, now accepted by the Senate, and that the holding of conferences prior to the conclusion of war, with no increase in the number of troops during the discussion of differences.

Wild West Suffragette Thinks Atlanta Sisters Should Have Big Parade

Mrs. Dollie Kennedy Yancey, Fresh From Interview With Huerta, "Little Best," Forgets Time When Pleading "Cause" With Greek Waiter, Gets Left, and Stirs Atlanta Suffragette "Bunch"

Fresh from Mexico and an interview with General Huerta, Mrs. Dollie Kennedy Yancey, who announces herself as "wild and woolly and western," an ardent advocate of woman's suffrage and a sponsor for a proposed suffragette parade in Atlanta, breezed into the city Wednesday morning and breezed out again at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

It was all an accident that Mrs. Yancey, who is really a pioneer Atlanta suffragette, but she made the most of the local suffrage leaders to urge a parade in Atlanta for "votes for women."

Mrs. Yancey was due here at 2 p. m. and due out again at 7 a. m. Arrived at the Union depot she stepped across the street to get some "ham and eggs," she said, and becoming involved in argument on the suffrage question with a Greek waiter, she lingered a trifle too long. She missed the train, but because she convinced the waiter, she thinks it was worth while.

She took advantage of her short stay by pronouncing the cause to several newspaper men and by boosting the suffrage parade.

The local suffragettes whom she saw say that the matter of the parade will be brought before the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association Wednesday afternoon at the regular business meeting.

Whether the Atlanta women will take the idea is a matter of conjecture. Mrs. Yancey is strong for it.

"NATIONAL SUFFRAGE IN YEAR," "While I believe," she said, "that we will have national suffrage by next year, yet Georgia must take the lead among southern states. Already Georgia's women occupy the front rank among the suffragettes in Dixie, and Atlanta being the largest city in the south, is right in the fore."

A big parade would be just the thing to hasten the cause, she said. Mrs. Yancey is on her way to Chandler, Ariz., her home town, to call the attention of that metropolitan Chamber to the cause, she says, and Arizona is some state, largely, so she declares, because her women have the ballot. While in Chandler she will be the guest of Governor Hobbs' cousin, Mrs. M. Holly.

"Yes," said Mrs. Yancey, "I was seen with one eye cocked on Cartoonist Brewster's cartoon of Tuesday in which Mrs. Pinchbush is shown beating it over the border to settle Huerta and the Mexican election. A diminutive picture of Huerta on the horizon was what Mrs. Yancey called 'just like him.' 'I met him in El Paso last summer,' she declared, 'and he does look like that, short and stubby and hasn't any neck at all. Little beast! George Carpenter, the magazine writer, introduced me to him, and I talked to him quite a bit. All his people certainly hate the United States, and as for Huerta himself, he is a crook.'"

"Well, I must be going," she finished off with. "Good-bye, Mrs. Yancey," she was told.

"None," she replied, "I have to go out and see the bunch," and with that she departed for a chat with some local suffragettes.

retary to the women's board of managers here during the 1895 exposition, and take it from me, this town has grown some since that time. All these skyscrapers just had me baffled when I stepped off the train."

ROSE AS COWBOY. "Baffled," according to Mrs. Yancey, is just one of the western terms with which her vocabulary terms. It was Mrs. Yancey who represented Arizona in the suffrage parade in Washington and by dressing as a cowboy and riding astride set the fashion, which has been carried out ever since by Arizona's representatives in suffrage parades in New York and other eastern cities.

This is not one of the many original ideas by which Mrs. Yancey has won fame. She was state press agent for the Arizona suffragettes during their campaign for the ballot, she is known in Atlanta as "the tramp woman" on account of her itinerant propensities, and for five years she has been one of the most ardent suffragettes in the United States—not militant, for, as Mrs. Yancey says, "the American man doesn't want to be treated like the English brutes."

"That's clever," said Mrs. Yancey. "Yes," said Mrs. Yancey, "I was seen with one eye cocked on Cartoonist Brewster's cartoon of Tuesday in which Mrs. Pinchbush is shown beating it over the border to settle Huerta and the Mexican election. A diminutive picture of Huerta on the horizon was what Mrs. Yancey called 'just like him.' The exercises will start at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, when the organization meeting will be held and delegates from the different lodges in the district will present credentials.

The principal meeting of the convention will be a grand Pythian rally at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, and to this affair all Knights of Pythias, whether in good standing or not, are invited.

Among those who will deliver short addresses are Supreme Conclaves Thomas J. Carle, of Macon; Past Master William, of Cartersville; Hamilton Douglas, past grand conclave of Atlanta; grand perlator; Past Conclaves Sheppard, of Dublin; Grand Vice Conclaves Joseph E. Smith, of Atlanta; Past Conclaves James W. Austin, of Atlanta; Frank Hoover, of Atlanta; and Joseph A. Smith, of Atlanta.

ED M. HAVER WILL ENTER FIRE INSURANCE BUSINESS
Associate Editor of "Insurance Field" Resigns to Accept Special Agency in Fla.

Ed M. Haver, for some time associate editor of the Insurance Field, of Louisville, Ky., with offices in the Candler building and jurisdiction over the southeastern states, has resigned to enter the fire insurance business at an early date. Mr. Haver will become the special agent in Florida for the American Central, of St. Louis, Mo., and the Western American, of St. Louis, Mo., and the American of Toronto, Ontario, under Manager Charles H. Godfrey, of the southern department in Atlanta.

Mr. Haver succeeds Mr. R. P. Lee in the Florida field. Mr. Lee has been promoted and will return to Atlanta to assume departmental duties at an early date. Mr. Haver is well known in Florida, having been prominently identified with the transportation business in that state for some years prior to moving to Atlanta in 1905 to become assistant commissioner of the insurance bureau of the United States and later entering the insurance business. Mr. Haver's successor with the Insurance Field has not been announced.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 28.—Engineer E. H. Hart was fatally injured and his fireman, E. T. Walcott, was burned about the face and hands and badly bruised when the engine pulling the St. Louis and San Francisco "Meteor," the first southbound passenger train, left the track and turned over a half mile north of Tulsa, Okla., today. Hart was caught in the engine and his whole body was scalded with steam before he was rescued.

The train was running about twenty miles an hour at the time of the accident. None of the passengers or mail clerks was injured.

The Savoy
One of the big scenic picture features of the season in Atlanta will be the presentation at the Savoy Wednesday and Thursday of "Chelise 1750," an original drama of the underworld, produced under the direction of Daniel Pheasant, with the eminent actor, Henry E. Hickey, in the leading role.

"Chelise 1750" is a detective drama in three reels, starting the conception. It sounds every depth of the underworld, discloses its secrets, methods and emotions. In a relentless pursuit of a traitor and a gang of counterfeiters, which later develops into intense mental and physical struggle, Mr. Hickey is provided with one of the strongest parts he has ever portrayed. "Chelise 1750," the noted star of the "Fortissimo" stage with a new success. Thursday will be the last day that this picture play can be seen.

MR. WILSON APPRECIATIVE OF RECEPTION IN SOUTH

Enjoyed His Trip to Utmost.
Was Given Ovation at Every Stop

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Wilson was deeply impressed and is keenly appreciative of the reception accorded him by southern people on his trip to Mobile and return. He enjoyed the trip to the utmost and his manner indicated louder than words his appreciation of the sincerity of the enthusiasm aroused by his presence in the south.

Newsman Mr. Wilson who accompanied the president to Mobile and who were with him during his presidential canvass last fall declared today that he was greeted at the side of the crowd and more enthusiasm on his southern trip than anywhere in the country a year ago. They marvelled at the side of the crowd and the spirit of the people all along the line between Washington and Mobile, and are convinced that the south is not only democratic, but that democracy of the Wilson brand is in its ascendancy in Virginia, the Carolinas and Mississippi, all of which states Mr. Wilson traversed on his journey to Mobile. They traveled on his journey to Mobile. They traveled on his journey to Mobile. They traveled on his journey to Mobile.

Mr. Wilson was deeply impressed and is keenly appreciative of the reception accorded him by southern people on his trip to Mobile and return.

CAPT. HENRY MEDDIAM IS REFUSED VOICE
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Judge Graham, of the superior court, today refused to allow Capt. Henry Meddiam, Meridian, U. S. A., from Beale Meridian, and allowed the wife $75 a month for support. The court had heard all alleged misconduct with Major Clarence Murphy, who was the partner of the governor of Louisiana at Jackson Barracks. Murphy came from Paris to testify for Mrs. Meddiam.

MAY ERECT MEMORIAL TO COLONIAL HEROINE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the speaker of the house of representatives, today issued an invitation to all of the members of the house of the Revolutionary war to join in the erection of a monument to their colonial ancestors in Harpersburg, Ky. Mrs. Clark is a descendant of the McFay family, who were members of the Jane McFay chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Kentucky.

ATLANTA WINS
The most coveted prize among mutual insurance dealers is exclusive representation for the house of Chubb, & Son, Boston, managers of the world's standard pianofortes. This honor was held by London & Essex, 63 Peachtree street, and distributed for the entire state of Georgia. The designs for this season are the most beautiful ever brought to a southern market. The public is cordially invited to inspect the special holiday catalogues of Grand and Uprights now on exhibition. Catalogues and prices on request. Convenient terms and attractive exchange privileges are provided.—(Adv.)

J. G. NEWTON WILL BE GIVEN BIG POSITION

Morgan County Man to Become Assistant Commissioner of Patents

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—J. G. Newton, a native of Morgan county, will be appointed assistant commissioner of patents by President Wilson in a few days. Mr. Newton has many relatives in Walton and Morgan counties and is well-known and popular in that section. He has been employed in the patent office many years and his appointment as assistant commissioner will be made by the president in recognition of his able record. He entered the office as a civil service clerk when Senator Hoke Smith was secretary of the interior.

The patent office involves the most scientific work done in any department of the government and the appointment of Mr. Newton as assistant commissioner will mark the first time that a southern man has occupied so prominent a position in the bureau.

While Secretary of Interior Lane last night was to be away for a couple of days, he assured Senator Hoke Smith that Mr. Newton's name would be sent to the senate at once for the appointment.

Senator Smith expressed himself as gratified at the prospective promotion of Mr. Newton and seemed pleased that the honor should go to Morgan county, which it will be recalled, was the original "Hoke Smith county in Georgia politics."

EATON CASE MAY REACH JURY THIS WEDNESDAY

Closing Argument in Behalf of Defense Made Wednesday Morning

(By Associated Press.)
PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 28.—The closing argument in behalf of Mrs. Jeanie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph C. Eaton, was made today by William A. Morse. He aimed to convince the jury that the evidence had shown that Rear Admiral Eaton himself administered the poison which caused his death.

It was expected that the case would go to the jury late this afternoon. Attorney Morse told the jurors that even though they might believe Mrs. Eaton guilty they had no right to convict unless the evidence was conclusive, and he added:

"There is no evidence upon which you can find that this woman committed the act charged, or that she is an insane man who could commit crime and not be responsible for it."

Admiral Eaton was intemperate and possessed a mind that was vile, but he had a polished exterior. He took drugs to the end of his life. His wife had been faithful and the letters written by her, offered an exhibit had been prompted by pity for her miserable husband, the attorney declared.

The prosecution, the attorney said, had been unable to find a motive for the crime, and so had suggested several from which the jury might choose.

DELAY TRYING WOMEN ON KIDNAPING CHARGE
Case Growing Out of Ireland
Strike May Never Come to Trial

DUBLIN, Oct. 28.—Abandonment of the prosecution of Mrs. Lucille Rand, daughter of Henry T. Gage, of California, and the letters written by her, offered an exhibit had been prompted by pity for her miserable husband, the attorney declared.

The two women played a leading part in arranging for the transfer to Ireland of children of striking Irish transport workers. The children were to be cared for during continuance of the strike. Those efforts were opposed by the British government, which objected to the children being sent to Protestant homes.

At the hearing today the attorney

For the woman said there was a lack of humor in charging that she was kidnapping when they were really on a journey. The attorney general connected to a month's adjournment, which is taken again.

He Who Reads Doesn't Have To Run!

Because you are a reader of advertising it does not follow that you are going to be influenced by every advertisement.

The man who needs a new overcoat and is seeking to buy it to the best advantage is not going to be diverted by the advertisement of an ice cream freezer.

But the wise overcoat seeker is going to compare the advertising appeals of the stores that sell coats.

He is going to read their reasons and form his own conclusions.

JOURNAL advertising is not meant to do your thinking for you—it is intended to help you do your own thinking.

JOURNAL advertising readers "think straight," because they see from all sides.

They have looked before they were ready to leap—and when they buy they spend their money with wisdom.

ATLANTA TEACHERS MAY BE GIVEN MORE MONEY

New Schedule Proposes Flat
Increase of $7.50 a Month

A flat increase of $7.50 per month in the salaries of each of the 450-odd teachers and assistant principals of the Atlanta public schools was proposed at the meeting of the council salary committee Tuesday afternoon by Councilman C. D. Knight and Alderman C. H. Kelly. This increase, if adopted by the committee and approved by council, will apply to all assistant principals and teachers who now receive less than $100 a month, both white and colored, and will add $1,125,000 a year to the school payroll.

The proposition was voted 10-2 in favor of it. In order that it might be considered by the full committee, Alderman John W. Chandler, the chairman of the committee, is taking from the city at this time. Mayor Woodruff will also be present to meet with the committee when the matter comes up for discussion.

NOT ENOUGH TO LIVE ON. Councilman Knight, who is the author of the proposed increase, declares that the teachers are not being paid living salaries and that it is up to the city to remedy this condition of affairs. He is being supported in his contention by Alderman Kelly, Councilman Thomas Lynch, Councilman K. A. Wadsworth and other members of the general council.

The proposed new scale of salaries for white teachers and assistant principals follows:

Assistant principals: First year, $745; second, $775.50; third, $822.50; fourth, $853.50; fifth, $882.50; sixth, $912.50; seventh, $942.50; eighth, $972.50; ninth, $1,002.50; tenth, $1,032.50; eleventh, $1,062.50.

Colored assistant principals are to receive $60.75 per annum for the first, second, third and fourth years; $67.50 for the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth years; $74.25 for the ninth, tenth and eleventh years.

Colored teachers for the first and second years are to receive $68.50 per annum; $75.25 for the third and fourth years; $82.00 for the fifth and sixth years; $88.75 for the seventh and eighth years; $95.50 for the ninth and tenth years; and $102.25 for the eleventh year.

FIREMEN'S SALARIES. The chief W. H. Cummings appeared before the committee Tuesday afternoon to urge a new scale of salaries for the members of the fire department, which will place them on a parity with the salaries paid the police force. The proposed new scale will increase the salary of the fire department from $100 to $125 per year. It increases the salaries of sixty firefighters, policemen, drivers and salaried men above what the city is now paying them.

The members of the department as follows, per annum: Second assistant chief, $100; third assistant chief, $100; superintendent, $125; alarm, $100; secretary to chief, $100; fire inspector, $100; captain, $100; firemen, $125; engineers, $125.

Wednesday afternoon and night will be the final opportunity for the Atlanta public to witness the most exquisite acting of the season when Miss Annie Russell and her superb company presents at the Lyric, "The Third Degree." These two plays have secured a wonderful triumph under the touch of Miss Russell and her players. Nothing finer will be seen in a theater in years than the work of the players in each of these comedies. The drama league and all critics have endorsed the company and plays with utmost enthusiasm.

Seats are now on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of the Princess and Duke and Duke. Never in the history of minstrelsy has a finer show been put on one before the critics of Richmond, Norfolk, Charleston and other cities south. The engagement at the Atlanta begins Thursday and continues through Saturday with a Saturday matinee. In addition to the two big stars many well known minstrels are with the company.

Thursday morning seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of Mabel and Edith Tallefer in their co-starring tour of the south. These two delightful young stars of international reputation are seen in the sweetest and brightest comedy ever written by Rachel Crothers, under the title of "Young Wisdom." The house opens for the first time on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with a Wednesday matinee.

The tenth week of the Jewell Kelley company promises to be one of the most successful of the stock season. The attendance for the first two days has

New Form of Amusement for Monthly Meeting Puts Kink
in Webster

Members of the Atlanta Ad Men's club tried their prowess at spelling as a new form of amusement when the regular monthly dinner and business meeting was held at the New Kimball Tuesday evening. The standard methods advocated by the national spelling commission had nothing on the turn some words got at the gathering. The term spelling "De Luxe" might cover the multitude of errors.

Albert Adams and Ivan E. Allen were chosen as captains of the opposing sides, while Lee Jordan acted in the capacity of teacher calling out words selected from the trade marks of nationally advertised goods.

The distinction of missing the first word went to Dr. W. A. White, who could not spell Coca-Cola. He was sent to the dinner stool amid shouts of derision from the opposing side.

At this juncture Fred Hauer charged that Teacher Jordan was giving Irish words a French pronunciation, which precipitated a near-riot that was quelled with difficulty by the sergeant-at-arms.

E. H. Cone failed to spell Budweiser.

Benefit Bridge at Hotel Ansley

A bridge party will be given Thursday afternoon, November 6, in the ball room of the Hotel Ansley, for the benefit of the Industrial school at Swannboro, N. C. and other educational purposes.

The following ladies will be in charge:

Absolutely Hairless. No Dye or Sticky Masses. Stops Itching of the Scalp and Dandruff.

IS YOUR HAIR LIKE THIS?
Gray or white, faded or colorless?
Gray at roots or ends of hair?
Prematurely gray or streaked?
Thinning gray or faded?
Hair brittle, thin or falling?
Dandruff or itching scalp?
Does it worry you?

If your hair is affected as above apply "Q-Ban" to hair and scalp. It is absolutely harmless to the most delicate skin or hair. Q-Ban is not a dye but brings to the surface of each hair the original coloring matter nature gave the hair. In this way Q-Ban makes the hair brown, black, auburn or whatever the original color happened to be. It has done this for thousands of men and women. No one can detect that you use Q-Ban. It makes the hair fluffy, alive with health, giving it the strength and beauty of 17 or 18 years of age. Makes you look years younger. Dreads the dangerous dyes. They only bring you disappointment. Q-Ban stops itching of the scalp and dandruff. It is delightful to use. Strengthens brittle and falling hair.

Q-Ban is sold at drug stores. Make a fair trial. It is a bottle. It will cost you $1.00 to $2.00 to get you. Try "Q-Ban" now. Send your name to Q-Ban Laboratories, Memphis, Tenn.

Edmondson's Drug Stores

MISS GRANT INTRODUCED AT BRILLIANT RECEPTION

A beautiful event of the afternoon was the reception at which Mrs. John W. Grant formally presented her young daughter, Miss Margaret Grant, to her friends among the married contingent.

The lovely home was decorated throughout with many exquisite flowers, a color suggestion of pink and white prevailing in all the room.

The drawing room was banked with palms and growing plants, and baskets filled with pink roses and lilies of the valley were suspended from the ceiling, the gold chains being intertwined with smilax and caught at intervals with miniature shaded electric lights.

The palm garden was converted into a fairy-like scene with myriad tiny lights glowing amid the masses of tropical foliage overhead, punch being served by a group of lovely young women standing beneath an arbor of fruit combined with roses of smilax and bamboo vines.

An orchestra in the den furnished a musical program during the evening hours of 5 to 7 o'clock.

The young debutante was an exquisite picture, the beauty of her Tennessee and delicate coloring being enhanced by a gown of white tulle and embroidered in crystal. She carried an armful of pink roses and lilies of the valley, the many beautiful bouquets which were arranged around her being a graceful expression of friendship for the lovely young girl entering upon her first social season.

Mrs. Grant was greeted in pale green chiffon veiling satin, the high girle embroidered with a tracery in silver, and she wore rare orchids and lilies of the valley.

Assisting in entertaining the guests were a number of handsomely gowned young matrons and several of Miss Grant's special friends among the unmarried set.

In the dining room a mound of fragrant Killarney roses fringed with smilax and edged with lilies of the valley formed the center of the beautifully appointed table, slender pink tapers burned under gold filigree shades, the bonbons were in the form of roses, and a floral basket suspended over the table was filled with the same graceful and beautiful flowers. The walls were hidden beneath a mural decoration of sprays of smilax and quantities of graceful southern bamboo, and clusters of handsome palms formed a striking background for the beautifully gowned women who were present.

DINNER DANCE TO FOLLOW RECEPTION.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Grant and Miss Grant will entertain the debutantes and members of the younger set who formed the receiving party at dinner, the guests to be served in small groups at tables in the living room and sun parlor.

An informal dance will prove a delightful close to the evening, this being the first of a series which Miss Grant will give during the winter for the members of the debutante set.

To Mrs. Sam Dick

Yesterday morning Miss LaLage Darwin was the attractive hostess at her handsome home on Millside at a very enjoyable sewing party given in honor of Mrs. Sam Dick of Atlanta.

The drawing room and library were bright and attractive with quantities of fall roses.

Sewing was very greatly enjoyed by the attractive group invited to meet the honoree, followed by a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Dick wore a very handsome coat suit in one of the new shades.

Miss Darwin received her guests wearing blue crepe trimmed with lace.

The evening's party was given by Mrs. Sam Dick, Miss Mossie Scudder, Miss Martha Phinley, Miss Louie Hagan, Miss Julia Brand, Miss Ruth Wells, Miss Alice Keme Briggs, Miss Edith Larrabee, Miss Louise Vincent, Miss Daisy McDonald, of Atlanta, Miss Annie Thomas, Miss Ed Hodgeson and Miss Lella Mae Hull—Athens Banner.

Hallowe'en Entertainment

The Business Women's League of the Second Baptist church has arranged a most interesting program for Thursday evening, October 29, in Sunday school rooms, to which the 100 or more business women of the Second Baptist church have been invited.

The program will consist in part of a character sketch by Miss M. L. Browne, the librarian at the Carnegie library, of the life of the late Dr. J. M. Smith, to which the 100 or more business women of the Second Baptist church have been invited.

In addition, there will be a witch who will tell fortunes.

The evening will be one of interest and enjoyment.

Mrs. Wal's Makes Public Interesting Facts Which Should Interest All Women

LEWISTON, Tenn.—Mrs. Martha Wall, of this town, makes the following statement for publication: "I feel it my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me."

For four (4) years, I suffered terribly with womanly troubles, and I found no relief to different medicines which I took. Finally, I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, and after taking six bottles I am completely cured. I feel like a different person altogether. All the pains are gone, and I am in better health than I have been in for four years. Have gained a great deal in weight.

I still take Cardui as a tonic. My husband, as well as myself, cannot praise it too highly.

I hope this letter will induce other poor, suffering women to try Cardui, for it is the best medicine in the world for women.

If you suffer from any of the numerous ailments so common to all women, why not take this lady's advice, and try Cardui? It has helped her, as well as a million other women in the past half century. Why should it do the same for you? We feel sure it will.

Reading of Mrs. Wall's helpful experience should encourage you to try this medicine will do for you.

Get a bottle of Cardui from your druggist today. You won't regret it.

The Evening Story

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Warner.)

Letha frowned after her husband as he hurried out the front door of the small cottage and across the common to the distant elevated. "Microscopic" at breakfast and for two days before had been on the verge of disapproving something new in their five years of married life. But another man had been appointed over Vernon's head to a position that he had counted on, and she did not take disappointment.

"You don't know Colton," said Vernon. He isn't the kind of man that you can bluster at. He's simply my gut out. And I can't risk losing my position—no, not while we've got to keep up the payments on this cottage. And just now positions are scarce. Colton turned away twenty yesterday." Letha had shrugged her shoulders. Vernon's face had reddened again. A shame can be so very expensive.

The next morning Letha was persuaded by a fruit peddler with a persuasive tongue into taking five crates of strawberries. After she bought them she, of course, had to take them. It was with relief and disinclination that she put them in the parlor and on the stove. Relief because the labor would work off her irritation; disinclination because she was not in the humor to care whether Vernon had any jam and jelly that winter or not.

But by the time that she had stewed, boiled and steamed the crates of strawberries, she was completely saturated with them. It was the satisfying thing that testified to a day's excellent work, and she complacently surveyed the shining, red-filled glass jars that stood on the table, shelves, sink and stove. Vernon was fonder of strawberry jam than anything except green tomato pickles.

Well, she had for once put up enough to do him through the winter. It was by the time that she remembered that Letha had been allowed to spoil. Mrs. Brenson and the crates of food fruit that had been allowed to spoil. That she should buy it and then waste it. Maybe she didn't know how. But she thought any one surely could stew her berries. Letha hesitated. She had never spoken to the elfin little woman. But Vernon had said that she looked longingly. Curiosity had as much friendliness to her.

Letha had shrugged her shoulders. "No," said Letha, coolly. "I haven't." Vernon's choice of subject was not happy. "And," more coldly, "I don't think that I shall. None of us care for her. I really think that she is the most inefficient housekeeper that I have ever known. She doesn't burn her wastes. Yesterday she threw out a kettle of new potatoes—said you know what price new potatoes are at this time of year. And the day before she left her breakfast dishes go to fill her husband came home that night and he did them. Mrs. Williams, who lives next door, saw him. And I wish to see the wife she threw. Mrs. Jones said that she wore a dimly dress to the grocery store. Wednesday morning three potatoes as though she had never touched an iron to it. And she bought three crates of strawberries the other day—to eat, suppose—and they're still in her pantry now. Spoiled! Mrs. Williams' pantry windows are covered and she can see right in. Shiftless, that's all in it. All yesterday afternoon she sat on the front porch reading a magazine and those berries went!"

Letha did not mean her accent on shiftless to be personal. But Vernon had with Letha's determination to run over and take a dish of jam as excuse. But she was bound to find out why good berries went to waste.

She ran in the back way, a bit embarrassed. Curious desire that the front door call ahead a back way visit. But Letha was determined to run over and take a dish of jam as excuse. But she was bound to find out why good berries went to waste.

flushed and, without commenting on Mrs. Brenson's loneliness again, had begun to read his own magazine. Letha's selfishness and his had dropped. "Why don't you march straight up to Colton's private office and demand promotion?" he asked hotly. "Are you afraid of him?"

"You don't know Colton," said Vernon. He isn't the kind of man that you can bluster at. He's simply my gut out. OUR

The stars incline, but do not compel.

KOSMOSCOPE.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1913.

Let all luck come from this luck with care.

An uncertain day is foretold by the astrologers, who find Neptune, Saturn and Uranus exercising malefic sway in the horoscope. It is not an auspicious time to buy or to make an investment, the stars declare.

It is held to be of prime importance to regard cleanliness during this coverture, as special danger is supposed to lurk in whatever is unsanitary. Hospitals and prisons are believed to be under an unfortunate rule in this configuration.

The adverse aspects of Neptune are said to produce seductiveness and infidelity. While this aspect prevails, a desire for luxury and dissipation with its attendant misdeeds, is believed to be conducive to embroilment and theft.

Uranus, which often unites with Saturn in the zodiac, is in a place to indicate unexpected and irregular changes in the routine of business affairs.

Electric treatments and whatever has electricity as a motive power are attended by ill omen during this planetary government.

Increased activity of mind is said to be caused by Uranus' vibrations and the planet is unfavorably reflected in danger of discontent, rebelliousness and crime. It is a warning against anything which would not be advantageous.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the proclamation of a year that brings many anxieties. Their energies are produced in business and domestic associations, they will pay careful attention to their affairs. There is a warning augury for persons who are ambitious.

Children born on this day will be restless but industrious. Boys will be honest and ambitious but likely to let their enthusiasm triumph over good judgment. The wife will be successful and cheerful.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY "TWO-TWO" W. BURGESS.

(Copyright 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)
When the Merry Little Breeze of Old Mother West Wind had left Grandfather Frog in the Long Lane where Farmer Brown's boy had dropped him they hurried as fast as ever they could to come help him. Not one of them had been successful. No one in any of the places where they usually were to be found. The Merry Little Breeze looked and looked. Then one by one they sadly turned back to the Long Lane. They felt so badly that they just had to go back where they had left Grandfather Frog.

When they got there they found Striped Chipmunk, who had cut the string with which Grandfather Frog's legs had been tied, and who now was seeking Farmer Brown's boy as fast as his legs could go.

"There is he!" cried the Merry Little Breeze excitedly. Striped Chipmunk stopped scolding long enough to point out where he was. Striped Chipmunk was hunting in the grass for some trace of Grandfather Frog. Then he began to scold again, harder than ever.

"We don't mean him," said the Merry Little Breeze. "We mean the boy who is here at once." Where's Grandfather Frog? cried the Merry Little Breeze, all speaking at once.

"He's not here," said Striped Chipmunk. "And what's more I don't care! He wouldn't take my advice and go back to the Stringing Frog where he belongs and now I don't care what becomes of him."

Now, that wasn't true, for Striped Chipmunk was a very good fellow. He was talking, and the Merry Little Breeze was listening. They were both very good fellows. They were both very good fellows. They were both very good fellows.

Then they noticed for the first time the spring where the wall of the spring were and how far down Grandfather Frog was and they knew that he spoke the truth. They were bending down the grasses that grew around the edge of the spring, but none were long enough to reach the water. If they had been long enough to reach the water, they would have found Grandfather Frog. Then they tried to lift a big stone into the spring, but it was too heavy for them and they could not move it. However, they did manage to blow an old shingle in, and this gave Grandfather Frog something to sit on, so that he began to feel a little better.

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS

By Mary Lee

LEATHER SOLES

It goes without saying that shoes given good care, will last much longer than if neglected.

In the first place, heat is the enemy of leather. It takes all the life from it so that it very soon cracks. Especially is this true of patent leather. Consequently, shoes should never be placed near a stove or fire. Incidentally, rubber overshoes should never be kept on longer than is necessary, because this, too, destroys the strength of leather. When shoes are damp they should be laid on their sides to dry, preferably in a draught.

Should they have been dried by a fire and so become stiff, the stiffness may be restored by rubbing in a good oil, as castor.

To aid the wear of shoes, pour boiled linseed oil into a pan and let the shoes stand in it until they are thoroughly saturated. Take care the oil does not touch the uppers. Use neat's-foot oil for this. It will feed the leather and keep it pliable. Leather dries very rapidly and has a tendency to harden further, hence the reason why it is good for soles but not for uppers. If the soles are given an occasional coat of hard white copal varnish, this will keep them damp and also add to the life of the shoes. Milk fresh leather, so that it is a good plan to wash the shoes with milk, say once a week.

Patent leather can be kept in good condition by sponging off all soil with warm water, afterwards applying sweet or olive oil with a cloth and rubbing in with the hands. Never use paste or liquid blacking on patent leather.

Kid, if rubbed with oil once a week, will neither crack nor harden. Should a kid be roughened and show purple the color can be restored by applying with a soft sponge a mixture of lard and the white of an egg.

The white kid uppers of shoes can be cleaned by rubbing with gasoline or benzine, using a little good white soap if thought necessary.

Leather can be made waterproof by coating it with many of the various fats. One of the best agents for the purpose is a mixture of equal parts of bonewax and mutton tallow. These should be melted and then be beaten into a soft paste with neat's-foot or castor oil. It should be applied while warm.

An Evening in the Old South

The Hallowell entertainment which will be given at the Hotel Anley Friday evening will be under the auspices of the Uncle Remus Memorial association, and the patronesses include Mrs. A. M. Wilson, Mrs. R. L. Lowry, Mrs. W. L. Ford, Mrs. E. L. Connolly, Mrs. W. D. Grant, Mrs. John E. Murphy, Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, Mrs. J. O. Wynne, Mrs. W. E. Foster, Mrs. S. W. Foster, Mrs. J. A. Puttill, Mrs. Luther Roemer, Mrs. Sam D. Jones, Mrs. M. Elmo Massengale, Mrs. R. T. Connolly, Mrs. John F. Purner, Mrs. H. O. Hastings, Mrs. David Woodward, Mrs. John J. Woodside.

Miss Louise A. Williams, the gifted young Georgian who has won the prizes of the presidential family with old negro stories and songs, given at the White House, will furnish the principal part of the program, her repertoire to include "Mammy's Reminiscences of Christmas on the Old Plantation," "Darky stories, old negro humor, old darky anecdotes," "A New Year Eve Ceremony," "Walking Egypt," and the songs "Mammy's Camptowning Song," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and "The Shep do Know de Road."

In addition to the stories and songs taken directly from the remnant left of the old darkies till living, true, ever interesting chronicles of the glory of the old south, Miss Williams will give "The Far Baby Story," and "A Plantation Witch," from "Uncle Remus."

In illustration of these in tableau vivante will be seen "Miss Meadows on de Gate" in Joel Chandler Harris' conception of the old "Old Uncle Remus and the Little Boy."

The stage will be appropriately decorated with Jack-o'-lanterns and pumpkins, carrying out the Hallowell idea.

Following Miss Williams' dialect impersonation of the faithful old mammy, twenty little tots will sing and dance "Mammy's Little Shuffling Dance," the children having been coached by Miss Steele, assisted by Mrs. Stewart.

Other taking part in the program will be Mrs. Grace Lee Brown Townsend and Mr. Tyre Jennings, who will sing, and Miss Margaret Bartholomew, who will give several instrumental numbers.

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and manhood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily convertible into red blood corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutriment in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form, hypophosphites for the nervous system, with the healing, soothing qualities of pure glycerine.

Its nourishing force promotes assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant red blood, fills hollow cheeks, tones the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy manner.

The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

HANK'S TWELFTH DAY---KNOBS FINDS A MESSAGE FROM HANK

--BY FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

WHITHER VANISHED. Where are the magic Big Four gone? That once ruled East and West? That once skimmed all the cream on top And crowned the gridiron crest? That once were lords of their domain With laurel on their brows? Are they still monarchs of the realm? Where rings the cheering now?

Ask of the Michigan Aggies: Query to Pittsburgh U.: Shot in a call upon Dartmouth Hall For that husky Hanover crew; Hurry a wire to Carlisle And ramble along the slope Where W. & J. have a word to say In regard to the conquering dove.

These last few weeks have furnished a sad shock to the talent in football, both East and West. Gone now is the grandeur and the glory of the few select eleven who once ruled the field and took charge of the game. It's a general scrimmage now, with tradition fairly scrambled and old landmarks wiped away.

In the East not so long ago the Big Four ruled the field. Harvard still holds her place, but next to Harvard Pittsburg University comes stronger than Yale, Princeton or Penn. And Dartmouth is also better than these three on form. Then W. and J. has displaced Penn State and fought Yale to a draw upon Yale's own battlefield.

THE TWO STAR ENTRIKES

From the entire allotment, East and West, Pittsburg University and the Michigan Aggies have uprooted the greatest amount of excitement. Pittsburg, classed as a minor league in football some years back, has conquered Carlisle and Cornell decisively, and further west the Michigan Aggies have risen to even greater heights by displacing Michigan and Wisconsin on successive Saturdays.

If it wasn't for Harvard's great machine we might stage a battle between Pittsburg U. and Michigan A. C. for the football championship of America.

Yale at the last rush may rise tidily from the rut, but inability to score upon either Maine or W. and J. doesn't argue any terrific attacking power along the lines of the old-fashioned blue assault.

IN ADDITION TO WHICH--

There is an end, named Wagner, who might come in for some later inspection from those desiring to establish an all-American or all-eastern team. He doesn't display his wares under the standards of Harvard, Yale, Princeton or Penn., but those who have seen Pittsburg University at work, write me that he has something on any end in the East. The fact that his name is Wagner and that he hails from Pittsburg is sufficient to insure his ultimate status among the 350 class.

As we understand it, Michigan and Wisconsin took on the Aggies for practice games, preceding harder struggles at hand. We wonder if they secured all the practice they were looking for at those dates?

OLD MAN STAGG

And unless something unexpected develops, old man Stag will be able to return again with another championship. Once in while some rival sits upon him heavily, but like old Doc Phoenix in mid-season form he insists upon bounding into the open again.

But for all that, western football will never look the same to us until we can see Stag and Yost hook up in another old-fashioned jamboree and back the good old days again.

THE GRIDIRON EDGE

There is one sentimental beauty about football wherein it surpasses as a diamond brother. When the season ends it ends, barring a brief all-American flurry, and we are not confronted with the daily spillover that Harvard has traded Brickley for Costello, or that "Yale plans to ask waivers upon her entire backfield."

Charles Webb Murphy is planning a trip to Europe. But what most Chicago fans would like to know is the visiting whereabouts of J. Evers & Co. about October 6, 1914.

The main business now in baseball politics and football seems to be the collection of Tiger skins. They are said to make great little furs for the winter campaign.

No wonder Pittsburg U. has considerable football eleven. Her two ends are named Collins and Wagner. You can't even hit the ball by this fall, much less test it in your arms.

Of all sad words from Tongue or Pen, The saddest are "Carlisle scored again!"

In spite of printed reports, McGraw is uncertain whether he'll trade the bulk of his Giants or cancel their mileage in southeastern Australia.

The official test shows that Walter Johnson hasn't quite the speed of a .440 bullet, but no one can make a number of batmen in the American League before the test was correctly made. If you can prove to them that a bullet is swifter you'll never see one of them enlisted in a war.

KNOCKS MONIE, SCORES 5

RUINS HIS TEAM LOSES

Jimmy Shinn, Sacramento right outer, tried to beat the Yankees, but was killed by his lonesome team, who did and failed. Score, 5 to 0.

Of course Sacramento had eight other men in the game, but they didn't amount to a hill of beans. Here's all that was left.

When the itinerary was arranged, business seemed to be in an effort to make at least enough money to cover the expenses. If the expense were not to be covered before it was time to leave this country there is every reason to believe that the windup would produce a deficit.

WORLD TOWN IDEA MAY

The Giants and White Sox--the two teams which are masquerading under those "handles" for the sake of distinction and the printer's union--may not make the much discussed tour of the world. McGraw has not said so, nor has "Charles" Combs. It seems that the trip may end at Vancouver.

Empire League After Albany

And Columbia, S. C., Wants to Oust Albany From South Atlantic League

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 28--If the fight on Albany is successful at the meeting of the South Atlantic league directors this week it is practically certain that Albany will be welcomed as a member of the Empire State league. For some time several cities have been trying to enter the Empire league, which enjoyed its first season this year, and directors of the league have been hearing from increasing the circuit to an eight-team affair. It is reported that Columbia, S. C., is seeking to get back into the South Atlantic league, and that with the aid of a few cities who are opposed to Albany the Columbia fans hope to succeed.

Albany's location makes an ideal member for the Empire league, and the intense rivalry between Albany and other members of the Empire would prove a big drawing card.

In view of the uncertainty of the membership of the South Atlantic league, the directors of the Empire league will hardly be called to meet until after the South Atlantic league directors hold their meeting. It is not regarded as probable that any of the cities now in the Empire circuit will want to drop out, though there has been some talk of one city surrendering its franchise. If this should prove correct the size of the Empire would remain the same, although it would be dropped, but in the event such a thing does happen they want Albany to get in with the other Empire cities and help make the Empire one of the best class D organizations in the country.

GOOD STUFF CORN WHISKY

For three generations we've been making old-fashioned Georgia Corn Whiskey. We claim we know how to make corn whiskey better than anybody in the world.

We get only three gallons to the bushel of grain. "Up-grade" distillers get five gallons to the bushel of "grating the mash." But my, what a difference! Leaving our whiskey on oak barrels, look at the other. It's made in the only old-fashioned corn whiskey distillery in the world.

GOLF GOSSIP The Control of the Head

It seems to be almost a law of nature that at various times the different parts of the golfer's anatomy fairly get beyond his control. Sometimes it is the arms, sometimes the shoulders, and sometimes the feet and legs, writes Harold Sanders in London Golf. But I think there is nothing more distracting than when the head takes the bit between its teeth, as it were, and becomes completely unmanageable. It seems to be the most difficult of the members to control. The more you think of it the more the wagging head gets out of hand. After every foolish shot your caddy tells you with "damnable iteration" that "you lifted your head, sir." You tell yourself the same thing. Your opponent tells you the same thing. All your efforts to overcome the demon of unrest are unavailing. The other day I found myself in the happy position of being 4 up with 5 to play against a man whom I had the dearest wish of my life to beat. Then my head got beyond my control. The prayers and entreaties of the caddy to "keep your head down, sir," were all in vain. With the best will in the world I could not obey the simple injunction, and in the end I was left on the last green. When the head becomes unmanageable it is not a bad thing for it to let it have its fling, so long as it later it will resume its wonted stability.

WALT JOHNSON

Defeats Matty

(By Associated Press.)

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 28--Walter Johnson met Christy Mathewson on the mound here Tuesday, and Johnson's team, the Chicago White Sox, won over the New York Giants, 6 to 0.

Johnson was master throughout, holding the National leaguer to eight scattered hits, striking out eight and walking one, while Mathewson was taken from the box after he allowed two doubles and a single, netting two runs in the fourth inning. Witten, who succumbed Mathewson was pounded heavily. The game was played in a snowstorm.

Vandy Leaving To Battle Va.

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28--Vanderbilt's football squad, eighteen strong, leaves Nashville tonight for Charlottesville, Va., where the team plays the University of Virginia Saturday. Tomorrow night will be spent at East Radford, Va., and Friday night at Lynchburg.

The team is not in the best condition and the services of T. Brown, the aggressive tackle, who was injured in the Michigan game, will be missed. To cheer up the crippled team Vanderbilt students are preparing to give them a demonstration tonight.
